JFK Backs Army Reorganization

High Command Streamline Plan Given Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent Congress a six-point plan Tuesday for drastic streamlining of the Army's high command.

"The primary purpose of this reorganization is to develop an Army with the best possible command structure, management, training, doctrine, weapons, equipment and morale," Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. said.

This first major Army reorganization in nine years affects the top headquarters level but leaves undisturbed the Army's combat structure and the headquarters of its field commands.

Two New Commands

It involves creation of two new top-level commands under which will be concentrated research, development, procurement and other functions now performed by such individual technical services as the ordnance, quartermaster and Signal Corps.

The services will continue to exist, but the posts of chief of ordnance, chief chemical officer and quartermaster general will be abolished. Some other technical service chiefs will be downgraded.

At present, the chief chemical officer is Maj. Gen. Marshall Stubbs, the chief of ordnance is Lt. Gen. John A. Hinrichs, and the quartermaster general is Maj. Gen. Webster Anderson.

The general staff will be relieved of many command-like and detailed operating chores "to permit greater emphasis on planning, programming, policy making and general supervision" of the Army's overall effort.

18 Months To Carry Out

The Continental Army Command, headquartered at Ft. Monroe, Va., will take over from the technical services the job of training their personnel. CONARC already is responsible for training combat troops.

"I anticipate that approximately 18 months will be required to carry out the reorganization," Stahr said in a statement.

The reorganization will become effective within 30 days if neither the House nor Senate Armed Services committees vetoes it. Should either committee reject the plan, it would then go to the full Congress which would have 40 days in which to act.

North-Central U.S. In Icy Grip

By The Associated Press

The north-central part of the nation remained in the vise-like grip of a deadening, below-zero cold spell Tuesday and the Weather Bureau said icier temperatures were on the way.

Readings of 20 degrees below zero were common in the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota and were expected to slip below 30 degrees before dawn Wednesday. A good part of the hard-hit area extended from Montana into Idaho and from New England into the Ohio Valley.

An engineer reported that the sister cities of Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., were three feet closer by automobile because the 16-below temperature shrank the new bridge connecting the two communities that much.

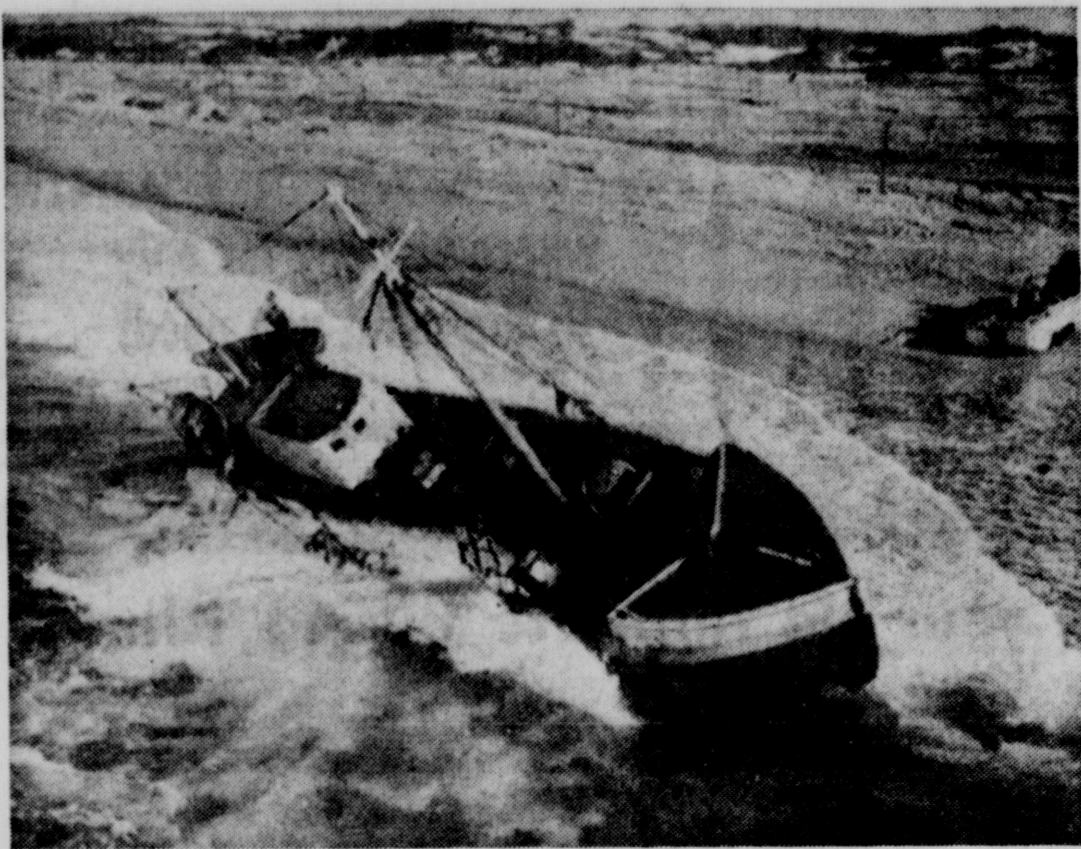

Minnesotans started the day in -23 degree weather at Hibbing, -22 at Bemidji and -16 in the twin cities of St. Paul-Minneapolis. The majority of reporting weather stations in Iowa had sub-zero readings, which also were common in parts of Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska and Wisconsin. Hard-packed snow nowing on Midwestern roads and highways created serious driving hazards.

U.S., Common Market Agree On Tariff Cuts

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The United States and the European common market have agreed on a mutual cut of 20 percent in tariffs on industrial products and some reductions on agricultural products, a common market spokesman announced Tuesday night.

The arrangements were completed at a 20-minute meeting winding up four days of negotiations between Howard Petersen, President Kennedy's special assistant for trade matters, and Jean Rey, a member of the Common Market Executive Commission.

However, some polishing was reported still required.

The concluding session was attended by W. Walton Butterworth, U.S. ambassador to the common market—the European Economic Community—formed by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The regulations of the General Agreement of Tariffs and Trade (GATT), which sponsored the talks, provide that details must be kept secret until the agreement is signed.

A communique announced it would be signed within the next few days at GATT's headquarters in Geneva. The document then will be submitted to the common market council in February.

Approval by the U.S. Congress is unnecessary. Kennedy has the authority under existing law to make the cuts covered in the agreement.

Negotiations between the two huge trading powers started Sept. 1, 1960.

A common market delegate to GATT, T. Hijzen, said the talks were prolonged because the common market offered a general 20 percent mutual cut in industrial tariffs while the United States insisted on negotiating item by item.

Informed sources reported the French were reluctant to grant tariff reductions on certain American chemicals and that this was about the only restriction in the agreement.

Vanguard Of 6,000 U.S. Troops Flown To Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A huge jet transport flew a full load of U.S. troops to Europe in little more than 10 hours Tuesday in the opening phase of "Operation Long Thrust II."

The operation to airlift 6,000 men from McChord, Wash. base to Rhein-Main base in Germany is widely viewed as a major test of how U.S. forces can be rushed overseas in an emergency.

It involves three reinforced battle groups of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The silver transport jet that landed here brought the first elements of the division headquarters unit, 18 officers and 54 men. Lt. Col. James Grimsley, 40, of

Eight Die In Gas Pipeline Blast

EDSON, Alta. (UPI)—Eight men were killed in a fiery blast Tuesday and four others were injured, one seriously, when a natural gas pipeline exploded during a testing operation near here.

Edson Police Chief John Macdonald said the explosion occurred about 1:30 p.m. EST at a pipeline project 35 miles northeast of here and some 150 miles west of Edmonton.

The cause of the blast had not been determined, Macdonald said. The victims were employees of Pigott Pipe Line Co. Ltd.

House To Tackle Mail Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House will tackle President Kennedy's request for an increase in postal rates as its first order of business.

That word came from Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., after a White House meeting Tuesday of Democratic congressional leaders with the President.

McCormack also said the House administration leaders have decided to seek passage of a federal aid for colleges bill before taking up separate legislation dealing with public school construction and teacher salaries.

"From the tactical angle, opposition to the higher education bill is not as strong as to the general education bill," he said, and from that standpoint he said it would be logical to move ahead first with the higher education proposal.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced that debate was scheduled to start Jan. 29 or 30 on a college education bill. The Senate measure would authorize a $2.76-billion program including loan funds for college classroom construction, scholarships, and grants to help build community junior colleges.

30 Killed In Rising Algerian Terrorism

ALGIERS (AP)—Grenades, bullets and knives killed nearly 30 more persons in Algeria Tuesday while top officials studied ways of coping with rising insecurity and ruin.

Police rushed from one scene of violence to another. The French minister of Algerian affairs, Louis Joxe, sped back to Paris to inform President Charles de Gaulle of the rising disorder.

One possibility was that a state of siege might be clamped on the largest cities to deal with the terrorism that has reached new peaks since de Gaulle announced plans to withdraw the bulk of French troops from this North African territory whose future is bloodily contested by the European settlers and the Algerians.

Kennedy Name Pops Up Again In Club Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's name popped up again Tuesday in the growing argument over exclusive Washington clubs that reportedly limit their membership on grounds of race, color or creed.

This time it was the Chevy Chase Country Club in suburban Maryland, which a columnist said practices ethnic discrimination. The White House confirmed the report by the columnist, Arthur Krock of The New York Times, that Kennedy was an honorary member.

Answering questions about Krock's column, press secretary Pierre Salinger said he understood Kennedy accepted the honorary membership last year. He said that the President was an honorary member of several organizations that customarily extend membership to presidents.

Krock mentioned Kennedy's membership in discussing the current controversy over barring Negroes, which led to the resignations of several administration officials from the Metropolitan and Cosmos Clubs and withdrawal of the President's membership application from the Cosmos Club waiting list.

Negroes were not mentioned specifically by Krock in connection with the Chevy Chase Club. He said the club has "maintained a more rigid discrimination than either of the others, and broader in that it also excludes from membership all Caucasians it assigns to one ethnic group."

There was no immediate comment from the club on this.

Salinger was asked if Kennedy planned to retain his honorary membership. The press secretary replied, "I couldn't tell you that."

Jakarta, Dutch Swap Charges

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Indonesians talked war and the Dutch warned of the right of self-defense in bitter comment Tuesday on a naval clash Monday off the south shore of West New Guinea. Each accused the other of provocation.

Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's appeal to both Indonesia and the Netherlands for a peaceful solution was supported by the United States. In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White urged both nations to avoid fighting and "get on with constructive steps toward negotiation" of West New Guinea's future.

Both strong words were voiced in both Jakarta and The Hague. The Dutch gunfire which the Dutch announced sank one Soviet-built Indonesian torpedo boat and routed its flotilla companions "constitutes a direct challenge and war provocation," an Indonesian army spokesman declared in Jakarta.

Girl, 16, Locked Overnight In Drive-In Freezer By Thief Reported Improving

BORGER, Tex. (AP)—Not a person was in sight at the drive-in Monday night. It was 11 p.m., and closing time.

Sandra Posey, the only employee on duty, picked up a large container of steaming hot chili and took it into the walk-in freezer.

The door slammed behind her. Seven hours later, she put her head in her hands and prepared to die. Her shoes were frozen to the floor and her legs had no feeling from the knees down.

"I gave up the ghost," 16-year-old Sandra said Tuesday from her hospital bed.

Dominican Troops Kill Eight Rioters

Many Wounded; Dusk-To-Dawn Curfew Ordered

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominican air force tank troops fired into hundreds of rioters in the heart of the capital Tuesday. At least eight persons were reported killed.

The rioters' main target appeared to be President Joaquin Balaguer, an old Trujillo adherent who has promised to resign. A government spokesman blamed Communist agitators for the rioting.

The nation's major opposition group, the National Civic Union, announced a hospital check showed at least eight dead and many wounded.

Troops Reinforce Police

It was the worst outburst of violence since remnants of the Trujillo dynasty were forced out of the country last November.

The two-week-old seven-man State Council immediately ordered a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Chiefs of the army, navy and air force, led by the armed forces chief, air force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, went into emergency conference with Balaguer.

The shooting broke out as the council headed for a showdown on opposition demands that Balaguer keep his promise to resign. Navy and army troops with automatic rifles moved in to reinforce police. Two hours later the streets were deserted except for the armed patrols.

Theatre Set Afire

After the shooting, thousands of Dominicans milled in the rainy streets. Mobs set fire to a downtown theatre.

Rampaging crowds, mostly youths, surged down the city's main street, overturning trash cans and hurling stones at windows.

The shooting occurred at Independence Park where an angry crowd had gathered to protest the presence of air force tanks.

Lt. Col. Manuel Antonio Cuervo Gomez, commanding the tank units, said the mob tried to overwhelm the tanks and set them afire. He said his troops were forced to fire in self-defense when rioters attempted to seize their guns.

West Prepared To Merge Atom, Disarm Issues

Move To End Test Ban Conference Surprises Soviet

GENEVA (AP)—In an abrupt move that seemed to catch the Soviet delegate by surprise, the United States and Britain announced Tuesday they are ready to break off three-power nuclear test ban talks.

They said that in line with Soviet demands, the test ban issue should be referred to the general disarmament negotiations due to open in Geneva in March.

As the nuclear talks reopened after a year-end recess, the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, apparently had expected some protracted negotiations.

Conference sources said Tsarapkin told the U.S. delegate, Charles C. Stelle, and Britain's Sir Michael Wright that he would submit his proposal to Moscow.

Tsarapkin later told newsmen he was "not pleased but puzzled" with the Western move. He did not elaborate.

Western diplomats expected the Soviet Union to agree that the test ban issue be negotiated within the wider issue of disarmament.

"After all it is their own proposal," one diplomatic source added.

The Soviet government proposed merger of the test ban and disarmament issues last summer after the two Western powers submitted a complete draft of a test ban treaty. This draft included far-reaching Western concessions on the international control machinery the West feels is necessary to ensure observance of an agreement to ban nuclear weapons tests.

The Soviet government then withdrew all previous agreements worked out in more than two years of negotiations in Geneva. It said in view of the worsening political situation, any type of international controls would be tantamount to Western espionage on Soviet soil.

At the outset of the resumed negotiations, the United States and Britain formally rejected the Soviet demand for an uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear weapons tests, proposed two months ago.

Since the Soviets advanced the idea after breaking a previous voluntary moratorium with a series of spectacular nuclear tests last fall, the Western delegates said their governments could not accept another moratorium.

Then Stelle and Wright told Tsarapkin that in view of the impasse, the only alternative was to break off the talks and refer the question to the 18-nation disarmament conference.

Judge, Lawyer Go Sledding, Fined

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—District Magistrate Richard Lauber and Robert H. Ziegler, Ketchikan attorney, were each fined $5 apiece Tuesday for coasting on an icy street after midnight.

Ziegler, 40, said he was babysitting and Lauber, 33, called to him to come out and join the fun. "You were too easily enticed," said Esther Powell, who is Lauber's deputy magistrate. "The fine will be $5."

Both pleaded guilty. They were arrested at 1:25 a.m. Monday night by Police Sgt. Carl Webb. Webb had warned they were violating an ordinance that says sleds, coaster wagons and toy cars must not be used on the streets.

Withdraws From Battle With Nixon

Ex-Governor Ill, Makes Decision On Advice Of Doctor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, once a robust political warhorse who loved a rousing fight, withdrew Tuesday from California's 1962 GOP gubernatorial primary and a battle with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Citing reasons of health, Knight stepped out of what was shaping up as a rugged primary fight with Nixon, an old intraparty foe.

Nixon said in a statement he hoped Knight would recover quickly from his illness so that "he could regain his participation in public affairs."

The two exchanged bitter charges last fall. Knight said Nixon, through a middleman, offered him any state job if Knight would quit the race. Nixon denied it.

Knight, 65, an ebullient, energetic governor from 1952 to 1958, was stricken last November with infectious hepatitis.

Confined To Bed After several weeks' hospitalization, he went home but since has been confined to his bed.

Amid rumors that Knight would withdraw, his campaign manager, Robert Alderman, resigned a few weeks ago.

Knight's current campaign manager, Bob Voigt, said the decision to withdraw was made Tuesday afternoon after Knight's physician gave him a 45-minute examination.

The physician, Carl E. Lund, said: "I have advised him that because of this illness, from which he has not yet recovered, he cannot conduct a strenuous statewide political campaign in 1962."

Knight himself said in a statement: "It is with the greatest regret that I now follow the advice of my doctor. I shall not file as a candidate for governor in March."

Warned By Doctor "This reluctance is inspired by the sincere devotion and friendship of many Californians who have so unselfishly supported me for governor of California."

"I will never forget them."

Voigt said Knight's doctor, after examining the former governor advised Knight that if he had a relapse, it would be worse than the original illness.

It had been no secret that Knight had been itching to take on Nixon in a head-on primary fight. He had even urged Democrats to change registration so they could help him defeat the 48-year-old Nixon in the primary.

California has a 3-2 Democratic registration edge, and Knight's followers claimed he was highly popular with many elements of the Democratic party, including labor and minority groups.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, is expected to seek reelection.

Astronaut Shot Postponed Day

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A faulty valve in a unit that will cool astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s space suit forced Tuesday a one-day postponement, until Jan. 24, of the effort to orbit him around the earth.

Word of the postponement came from reliable sources. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has never announced a specific date for the launching and therefore had no comment on the reported delay.

The source said the trouble involves a valve in a freon gas cooling unit in the Mercury space capsule. The unit feeds coolant into the astronaut's pressurized space suit while he is in the spacecraft atop the Atlas booster during the prelaunch countdown.

Hopes Dim For Three Missing Fishermen

CAPE MAY, N. J. (AP)—The search continued Tuesday for three fishermen whose oyster boat sank in a storm in Delaware Bay. Hopes that they would be found alive were dimming, the Coast Guard said.

The missing men, all from Delaware, are William Burris, 56, of Little Creek; Robert Seward, 28, of Dover; and Michael Scott, 30, of Port Mahon.

But strong words were voiced in both Jakarta and The Hague. The Dutch gunfire which the Dutch announced sank one Soviet-built Indonesian torpedo boat and routed its flotilla companions "constitutes a direct challenge and war provocation," an Indonesian army spokesman declared in Jakarta.

Gizenga troops, assembled at Katanga on Dec. 31, beat them and forced them to perform indecent acts, and then shot them at a military camp the next day.

The troops in the area previously were reported to have come from Stanleyville, Gizenga's headquarters in Oriental Province. Later they were said to be cooperating with the central government under the direction of Gen. Victor Lundula.

Gizenga troops, assembled at Katanga for an invasion of Katanga, mutinied last November and were blamed for the butchering of 13 U.N. Italian airmen.

Girl, 16, Locked Overnight In Drive-In Freezer By Thief Reported Improving

BORGER, Tex. (AP)—Not a person was in sight at the drive-in Monday night. It was 11 p.m., and closing time.

Sondra Posey, the only employee on duty, picked up a large container of steaming hot chili and took it into the walk-in freezer. The door slammed behind her.

Seven hours later, she put her head in her hands and prepared to die. Her shoes were frozen to the floor and her legs had no feeling from the knees down. "I gave up the ghost," 16-year-old Sondra said Tuesday from her hospital bed.

Officers said a thief apparently hid himself until the teen-ager walked into the freezer. Then he slammed the door. He dropped a long knife-sharpener through a gap to prevent Sondra from leaving and took $30 from the cash register. He overlooked $49 more.

West Prepared To Merge Atom, Disarm Issues

Move To End Test Ban Conference Surprises Soviet

GENEVA (AP)—In an abrupt move that seemed to catch the Soviet delegate by surprise, the United States and Britain announced Tuesday they are ready to break off three-power nuclear test ban talks.

They said that in line with Soviet demands, the test ban issue should be referred to the general disarmament negotiations due to open in Geneva in March.

As the nuclear talks reopened after a year-end recess, the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, apparently had expected some protracted negotiations.

Conference sources said Tsarapkin told the U.S. delegate, Charles C. Stelle, and Britain's Sir Michael Wright that he would submit their proposal to Moscow.

"Tsarapkin later told newsmen he was 'not pleased but puzzled' with the Western move. He did not elaborate.

Western diplomats expected the Soviet Union to agree that the test ban issue be negotiated within the wider issue of disarmament. "After all it is their own proposal," one diplomatic source added.

The Soviet government proposed merger of the test ban and disarmament issues last summer after the two Western powers submitted a complete draft of a test ban treaty. This draft included far-reaching Western concessions on the international control machinery the West feels is necessary to ensure observance of an agreement to ban nuclear weapons tests.

The Soviet government then withdrew all previous agreements worked out in more than two years of negotiations in Geneva. It said in view of the worsening political situation, any type of international controls would be tantamount to Western espionage on Soviet soil.

At the outset of the resumed negotiations, the United States and Britain formally rejected the Soviet demand for an uncontrolled moratorium on nuclear weapons tests, proposed two months ago.

Since the Soviets advanced the idea after breaking a previous voluntary moratorium with a series of spectacular nuclear tests last fall, the Western delegates said their governments could not accept another moratorium.

Then Stelle and Wright told Tsarapkin that in view of the impasse, the only alternative was to break off the talks and refer the question to the 18-nation disarmament conference.

Judge, Lawyer Go Sledding, Fined

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—District Magistrate Richard Lauber and Robert H. Ziegler, Ketchikan attorney, were each fined $5 apiece Tuesday for coasting on an icy street after midnight.

Ziegler, 40, said he was babysitting and Lauber, 33, called to him to come out and join the fun. "You were too easily enticed," said Esther Powell, who is Lauber's deputy magistrate. "The fine will be $5."

Both pleaded guilty. They were arrested at 1:25 a.m. Monday night by Police Sgt. Carl Webb. Webb had warned they were violating an ordinance that says sleds, coaster wagons and toy cars must not be used on the streets.

Withdraws From Battle With Nixon

Ex-Governor Ill, Makes Decision On Advice Of Doctor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, once a robust political warhorse who loved a rousing fight, withdrew Tuesday from California's 1962 GOP gubernatorial primary and a battle with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Citing reasons of health, Knight stepped out of what was shaping up as a rugged primary fight with Nixon, an old intraparty foe.

Nixon said in a statement he hoped Knight would recover quickly from his illness so that "he could regain his participation in public affairs."

The two exchanged bitter charges last fall. Knight said Nixon, through a middleman, offered him any state job if Knight would quit the race. Nixon denied it.

Knight, 65, an ebullient, energetic governor from 1952 to 1958, was stricken last November with infectious hepatitis.

After several weeks' hospitalization, he went home but since has been confined to his bed.

Amid rumors that Knight would withdraw, his campaign manager, Robert Alderman, resigned a few weeks ago.

Knight's current campaign manager, Bob Voigt, said the decision to withdraw was made Tuesday afternoon after Knight's physician gave him a 45-minute examination.

The physician, Carl E. Lund, said: "I have advised him that because of this illness, from which he has not yet recovered, he cannot conduct a strenuous statewide political campaign in 1962."

Knight himself said in a statement: "It is with the greatest regret that I now follow the advice of my doctor. I shall not file as a candidate for governor in March."

Voigt said Knight's doctor, after examining the former governor, advised Knight that if he had a relapse, it would be worse than the original illness.

It had been no secret that Knight had been itching to take on Nixon in a head-on primary fight. He had even urged Democrats to change registration so they could help him defeat the 48-year-old Nixon in the primary.

California has a 3-2 Democratic registration edge, and Knight's followers claimed he was highly popular with many elements of the Democratic party, including labor and minority groups.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, is expected to seek reelection.

Astronaut Shot Postponed Day

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A faulty valve in a unit that will cool astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s space suit forced Tuesday a one-day postponement, until Jan. 24, of the effort to orbit him around the earth.

Word of the postponement came from reliable sources. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has never announced a specific date for the launching and therefore had no comment on the reported delay.

The source said the trouble involves a valve in a freon gas cooling unit in the Mercury space capsule. The unit feeds coolant into the astronaut's pressurized space suit while he is in the spacecraft atop the Atlas booster during the prelaunch countdown.

Hopes Dim For Three Missing Fishermen

CAPE MAY, N. J. (AP)—The search continued Tuesday for three fishermen whose oyster boat sank in a storm in Delaware Bay. Hopes that they would be found alive were dimming, the Coast Guard said.

The missing men, all from Delaware, are William Burris, 58, of Little Creek; Robert Seward, 28, of Dover; and Michael Scott, 30, of Port Mahon.

Foot-Dragging On JFK's Textile Aid Plan Charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industry spokesmen charged and government officials denied Tuesday there has been foot dragging on President Kennedy's program to help the domestic textile industry.

At a hearing before a special Senate Commerce Textile Subcommittee reviewing industry progress in the past year, industry representatives generally praised the objectives of Kennedy's program, but deplored the limited steps that have been taken.

They said the seven directives issued May 2 by Kennedy were aimed at bettering conditions of the whole textile and apparel field whereas relief against exports had been sought on cotton textiles alone. They protested what they called fragmentation of total industry interests.

The industry representatives reiterated demands for import quotas, by countries and categories of fabrics, as the only real solution of problems created by foreign competition. Tariff walls, they said, could not be built high enough.

Boy, 13, Suspect In School Fire That Killed 95

CHICAGO (AP)—The state's attorney's office took charge Tuesday of investigating a statement attributed to a 13-year-old boy saying he touched off Our Lady of the Angels school fire that killed 95 persons in 1958.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward indicated that if investigation points to the boy's guilt, prosecution will be difficult because of his age. The boy, whose name was withheld, was a fifth grade pupil in the Chicago school at the time of the fire, Dec. 1, 1958. He since moved to suburban Cicero.

He has been questioned by Cicero police about several small fires in apartment building hallways in the suburb, but is not under arrest.

Two Firms Fined In DES Crackdown

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Department of Employment Security has served notice that it is cracking down on employers who fail to file unemployment insurance tax returns.

Stephen C. Cromwell, executive director of the department, estimated that 3,000 of Maryland's 50,000 employers covered by unemployment insurance were delinquent.

Two Baltimore firms were convicted Saturday and fined $100 each for failure to file the return. The owners were John M. Coleman, operator of a concrete finishing business, and Carl Layman, a painting contractor.

They were charged with failure to file a return at the end of the third quarter of 1961.

Cromwell said the two cases were the first prosecutions in 25 years.

State Farm Bureau Meeting Opens Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—The 46th annual meeting of the Maryland Farm Bureau opens in Baltimore Wednesday and nearly 2,000 persons are expected to attend.

C. E. Wise Jr., executive secretary of the organization, said the highlights of the meeting would include policy adoption, speeches by state and national leaders and conferences with affiliated groups.

Cashier Faces Jury Action In Bank Shortage

SALISBURY (AP)—The FBI arrested William E. Savage at his Salisbury home Tuesday and charged him with a shortage at the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Salisbury where he was assistant cashier.

Savage, 44-year-old father of two children, was charged with violation of the Federal Reserve Act.

The FBI said the shortage was discovered Jan. 8 when a depositor complained he had not been credited with proper interest on his savings account. Agents said an investigation showed that $21,000 had been withdrawn from the account July 31, 1961, without the depositor's knowledge.

The shortage totaled $28,200 but Savage was charged only in the loss of $21,000 by the one depositor. He resigned from the bank Jan. 9, the day after the discovery was made. He had worked for the bank since 1943.

Bank President W. Tracy Holland said the money taken had been returned.

Arraigned before U.S. Commissioner John B. Robbins Tuesday Savage was released in $1,000 bond pending action of the federal grand jury in Baltimore. His preliminary hearing was set for next Monday.

Britain To Sell Red China Jets Over U.S. Objection

LONDON (AP)—Britain will go ahead with sales of six Viscount jet airliners to Red China despite a new American bid to block the deal, government officials reported Tuesday night.

The Foreign Office at the same time moved to check reports the United States has banned the supply of certain strategic equipment used in the Viscounts.

An authorized source disputed the right of the Washington administration to apply its regulations in this country.

These developments signaled a fresh phase in the 12-year-old British-American dispute over relations with Red China. Britain has recognized the Peiping regime but the United States has not. London hopes to follow up the $10-million Viscount deal with the sale of dozens of other airliners, fuel oil and industrial goods on easy credit terms. Washington frowns on all such trade.

The American bid to bar the transaction was disclosed Monday by Assistant Secretary of State Frederick Dutton. He told Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., in a letter that the American company whose British offshoot makes nav-

NYC-PRR Merger Plan Hit By TWU

NEW YORK (AP)—The Transport Workers Union declared Tuesday the proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad systems endangered the nation.

In a letter addressed to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy officials of the union spoke of "disastrous consequences of this pact on the 150,000 employees of these railroads, along with their families."

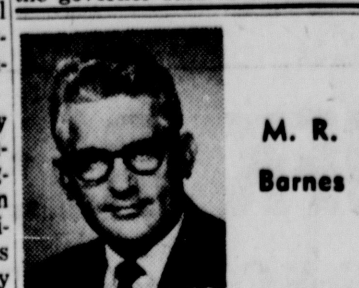

They asked the attorney general to investigate the proposed merger and report to President Kennedy and Congress.

The letter was accompanied by a resolution of the union's executive council passed Monday urging rail unions to fight — even strike — "to protect the job security, seniority and retirement rights of every employee on the seniority rosters . . ."

Pa. Assembly Called Into Special Session

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Davis L. Lawrence Tuesday called a special session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly beginning Monday, Jan. 22, to consider reapportionment of Pennsylvania's congressional districts.

"Both the Republican and Democratic leadership in the House and in the Senate have indicated that they are ready to reach a final agreement on this matter," the governor said in a statement.

County Parents Given CD Information

An informative letter regarding Allegheny County public school Civil Defense plans has been sent to all parents of pupils, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said.

Webster pointed out that in view of the tense world situation, it is imperative that schools develop the best possible plans to protect children in the event of nuclear attack.

This problem, he added, is complicated by the widespread conflict of opinion as to what would be best to do, and the realization that no plan can insure complete safety under all possible conditions.

The plans developed by the administrative staff of the Board of Education have been approved by the board, State Board of Education, City and State Police and the Allegheny County and Maryland Civil Defense authorities.

In order to insure an effective program, it is absolutely necessary to have the cooperation of all concerned.

He referred to Plan A and Plan B as announced to all principals yesterday in Allegheny Community College and outlined in the press.

Webster said it is recommended that when possible it is best that school children be returned to their homes as the home provides the safest shelter. Any such disruption would increase the chances of survival.

The home has more adequate shelter, adult care would be present, adequate sanitary facilities would be possible, and first aid supplies could be provided, officials explained. It was also stated school facilities could be used as emergency shelters for evacuees from target areas.

In any event, parents should not telephone the schools, he emphasized.

Under Plan A, an attack outside the radius of 100 miles from Cumberland, when fall out would reach here within three or four hours, pupils who walk to school will be dismissed immediately.

Police protection will be provided when and where possible at busy intersections. Parents should know the routes their children take to and from school, and should stress upon them to come directly home after dismissal.

Bus children will be dispatched as soon as possible and parents with automobiles must not pick up children at the school. Ignoring this rule, Webster said, will upset the entire procedure.

Parents must realize the responsibility of having shelter available and equipped for family use, he emphasized.

Under Plan B, when an attack is imminent and there is little warning, students will be retained at the school.

Each principal will have a plan for his or her own building which generally will mean that pupils will go to rooms or halls on lower floors in the central part of the building.

Further action taken will be on instructions from CD authorities based on the nature of the emergency after the attack.

Waste Lagoon Will Be Placed In Service Soon

A waste stabilization pond or lagoon for the approved treatment of sewage in the open air without the dangers of disease or nuisance of insects and odors has been completed at Pinto.

This is also the first approved sewage treatment plant in an unincorporated area in Allegheny County, according to J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian for this county.

Within ten days, the system will be in operation by Pinto Utilities Inc., a public utility company formed by Walter N. John W. and W. William Yoder to furnish sanitary facilities for the Bel Air housing development and other residences in the Pinto section.

This lagoon has a water surface area of four acres when operating at a depth of three feet.

Under design standards set up by the State Health Department, this system will serve 800 persons. Provisions, Dowling said, have been made for future expansion when required.

The lagoon has a capacity of over 6,500,000 gallons of water when operated at a depth of five feet.

Engineering and design of the plant and sewage collection system was by John McNair and Associates of Waynesboro, Va.

Engineering for the sewage system within the Bel Air development was by B. Aubrey Huffman, Charlottesville, Va.

Total cost of the facilities, including over 4,000 feet of sewer truck line and lagoon effluent pipe is $65,000. The main truck line to the plant is 12 inches in diameter.

Dowling said service connections have already been installed to 36 lots in the Bel Air development. These include two completed houses and four homes under construction.

Excavation for the large lagoon was done by the George F. Hazelwood Company and included 24,000 cubic feet of dirt that had to be removed.

Dowling pointed out that a lagoon is built by banking earth dikes for a surface area of one acre for 200 people served. The floor also is of earth and the lagoon area is cleared of trees and shrubs before it is filled with water.

Sewage remains in the pond for approximately 150 days and a chemical reaction takes place between oxygen and the waste products.

During this period, the self-starting algae, small single cell plants in the water, produce a super abundance of oxygen in the sunlight.

The oxygen reacts with the organic material (sewage) to produce carbon dioxide, nitrogen and phosphorus which aid in the production and growth of the algae. The algae then produce more oxygen to continue the cycle.

Lagoons are known to operate at 95 to 99 per cent efficiency, higher than any other treatment known, Dowling explained.

In the lagoons, the abundance of oxygen often reaches a supersaturation level of 400 per cent and permits the stocking of fish, regarded as a further aid to decomposition.

The decomposition is so complete that the formation of sludge on the bottom of the lagoon adds only a foot every 135 years.

Men Given Prison Terms For Burglary

Despite a plea for leniency by their attorney, two local men were given prison terms yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Circuit Court.

Ollie Oscar Sponaugle, 31, received a three-year sentence to the state penitentiary while Charles P. Sponaugle, 32, his cousin, was given a two-year sentence in the House of Correction.

Both men were involved in the burglary of the Merrill Leasure Schindler home on Hazen Road some months ago in which more than $400 worth of tools and a radio which were taken.

The men have been neither had very much education or opportunities. Both men have been placed on probation, Schindler said.

Judge Cobey said that the report of James Lewis, state probation officer, showed that both men have long records of violations of the law and their personal life and work records were also not very good.

Yesterday when they were brought into court Julius E. Schindler, their court-appointed attorney, told Judge Cobey that because neither man had shown any indication that he had mended his ways, Judge Cobey stated.

The men have been neither had very much education or opportunities. Both men have been placed on probation, Schindler said.

Hospital Plans Training Program

After an initial visit to Sacred Heart Hospital last week, Luther Pounds and Robert Carroll, hospital service managers of the Ray-Ban Corporation, Washington, returned here yesterday to begin a week-long, in-service education program for employees of the hospital's housekeeping department.

A complete study of the department has been made by the Washington experts, Sister Mary Richard, hospital administrator, said last night, looking toward the addition of greater patient care through training and reorganization in the housekeeping section.

The education program will include training in the use of the latest equipment and supplies, the administrator added, and is necessitated by the record occupancy of the hospital by area residents over a sustained period of time.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Sudden rebellion in the ranks? Even the best-behaved baby feels the need to rebel from time to time. And why not? A baby is a human being, entitled to a few human quirks. (Besides, this show of spirit means he's growing up.) So when your baby occasionally refuses to go along with his regular mealtime or naptime schedule, try to relax and let him relax before you feed or bed him down. If you don't force the issue, it will be easier to get baby back on schedule the next time around.

Baby will relish regular meal-times if they're kept "looking-forward-to" times. The needed ingredients? A smiling atmosphere. A goodly variety of Gerber Strained Foods. There are more than enough to keep baby's meal-times zestful.

Variety review with a delicious point of view. Gerber Strained Foods offer plenty of range for menu change. 10 luscious fruits, 9 garden-good vegetables. 9 savery meats. 5 extra flavor-y high meat dinners. 4 scrumptious desserts. 7 fruit-licious juices. Each one designed with a specific nutritional need in mind.

Four tips to tame a rock-a-bye rebel. (1) Nothing quite so relaxing as a rocking chair session. (2) A lullaby, sweet and low, still "hath charms to soothe." (3) A favorite cuddle toy somehow makes a crib seem cosier. (4) Grandmother offered a spot of warm milk to encourage drowsiness. Works today, too.

Specialties of the house. Don't forget these special foods for your baby: Gerber Strained Egg Yolks—delicate in flavor, custard-y in texture, high in iron and vitamin A. Gerber Teething Biscuits—extra-hard to soothe tender gums, specially shaped for easy grasping. Gerber Cookies for toddlers—animal-shaped for fun, twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus B-vitamins in the icing. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

READ EMBLEM CEREMONY—The Business and Professional Women's Club received new members in an emblem ceremony last evening at the Central YMCA. Taking part were Mrs. Ellen Carroll, winged wand;

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula. (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

County Asks Departments For Budgets

In preparation for setting the annual tax levy next April 2, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners today instructed their clerk, James G. Stevenson, to write all department heads to submit their proposed budgets not later than February 15.

The largest budget is that for operation of the public schools and this will probably be the last budget considered by the commissioners.

The levy date was moved ahead last year so that the county tax collector could have more time to prepare the various tax bills. The new billing system was used for the first time last year and with the experience gained the work this year should progress more quickly, according to William B. Orndorff, county tax collector.

Allegany County, like other counties, is benefitting from revenue from the state through Gov. Tawes' program of increased sales tax and cigarette taxes with the bulk of the money being allotted to the various counties.

So far this year, Allegany County has received about $150,000 in cigarette tax monies from the state and the final amount should be approximately $300,000 by year's end. This money can be used for general purposes.

Sales tax funds received from the state were used last summer to grant public school teachers a $200 annual salary increase.

Additional state funds for public welfare will also save the county a sizeable amount for this program.

The surplus in the current budget is expected to be rather large and this portends the strong possibility of a county tax cut. It is also an election year and in

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please be honest. Your answer may be the most important turning point in my life.

If you were 21 years of age, would you marry a young man who had no money in the bank, owed a few small debts, had a very good job with a promising future, and was brimming over with ambition and confidence?

STAR EYES
DEAR STAR EYES: I did. And it's wonderful!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a working girl who saved her money and bought a new car. My boy friend is gainfully employed but he's a "saver" not a "spender." Lowell has no car of his own (although he could afford one) but he borrows mine when he visits his mother in the suburbs.

Yesterday he returned my car with a smashed grill and broken headlights. He said the brakes didn't hold and he ran into his mother's fence.

We went to the garage together, and the estimate to repair the damage was $88. My insurance doesn't cover this sort of accident.

Lowell turned to me and said, "If you think I'm paying for this you're crazy. With those lousy brakes you're lucky I wasn't killed." The garage man said, "The brakes are perfectly fine." Lowell turned red and left in a huff.

Today I received a check for $90 with this note: "Buy yourself a new boy friend with the change."

Shall I cash the check or return it? I feel terrible.—PHOEBE

DEAR PHOEBE: Cash the check and send Lowell $2 which is what he has coming. He clearly has no sense of personal integrity and you're fortunate indeed to discover it early.

I would not mind helping her out in an emergency, but I know she has a basement filled with appliances which don't work. She never bothers to have anything repaired.

This woman rarely returns what she borrows and I find myself knocking on her door asking for MY appliances. When she is not at home I'm out of luck.

Please suggest a tactful technique for handling this annoying problem.—EASY TOUCH

So Now Who's A Colonialist?

The old Western colonialism is dying. Some day its legacy to many of the under-developed peoples will be better appreciated than now.

The new colonialism of Soviet Russia — actually the old Russian czarist imperialism with a Marxist ideological rationalization — is very much alive, pressing outward and nibbling on its borders.

These two colonialisms are so much in the spotlight that it is easy to ignore a third sort of colonialism that is putting in an appearance — the colonialism of under-developed and formerly colonial countries. These countries seek territory on the basis of premises which they would not recognize as valid if those premises were asserted by other colonialisms.

Iraq claims the right to rule Kuwait. Nasser would like to unite much of Africa and the Middle East under his leadership. India, in places like Hyderabad, Kashmir and Goa, has been showing an itch for territory.

Indonesia, which is having difficulty governing itself, threateningly demands that she be allowed to govern the stone-age Papuans in West New Guinea, but without showing why she should be considered better qualified for that assignment than The Netherlands.

Guatemala is demanding British Honduras from Britain. If the demand were granted, the people of Belize wouldn't get the independence Britain is preparing them for. Ecuador demands territory from Peru, Bolivia craves adjoining territory. There are territorial disputes between Honduras and Nicaragua, between Argentina and Chile, between Brazil and Argentina.

Everybody wants peace, of course. But almost the only nations that do not seem to want to grab territory now held by somebody else are the former colonial powers.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Things Do Happen!

The other night, I went to the Metropolitan Opera House to hear the Walkure, which, if you do not know, Richard Wagner took out of the Volksungs and Niblungs and wrote a series of opera about. It takes enormous energy to sing any of the music in the Ring, first because Wagner had no mercy for singers, expecting them to blow themselves to bits and secondly because it is undoubtedly the most glorious music ever written if you can understand what it is all about.

Richard Wagner's concept of the opera was that it united all the arts into a single idea. However, the night I went, the star lost her voice and they substituted another, poor dear, who had not enough wind to carry Wagner across the mountain which he expects a soprano to do. Of course, Flagstad had no problems because nature built her that way and all went well until Walter Winchell called Flagstad a Nazi.

So the night I went to hear the Walkure, they had a real German Wotan, with all the muscles and stomach that is required for such a character but a bug got him and his voice was not what it should have been—an accident that shows what can happen to an actor who plays a god. So they got another Wotan, gods being available in these days as in those and the curtain went up and everyone was happy.

Wotan was doing pretty well until he—the second one—lost his voice or forgot his part; I do not know what happened for I, not being a master of these things, listen only to the orchestra that carries into dreams. When Wotan sang, in German, of course:

"Thy bed shall be lit by torches more brilliant
Than ever for bridal have burned!
Fiery gleams shall girdle the fell,
With terrible scorchings scaring the timid,
Who, cowed, may cross not Brunnhilda's couch
For one alone freeth the bride;
One freer than I, the god!"

Down came the curtain. The god had lost his way. Nobody knew whether he was to get his money back or what, but on the whole it was a decent audience that took what came good-naturedly, figuring that these German gods were playful folk who got all mixed up with maids and beer and sometimes even with such a one as Hitler.

My eyes were cast on a bass fiddle player, a girl, who I was told was part of the augmented orchestra. I recalled what Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said to Justice Brandeis when both were aged and walking to the Supreme Court to prove their eternal youth, "Oh! Would that I were eighty again."

The curtain rose again and the first Wotan courageously finished the show, for come what may, the show must go on and Wagner was justified when the original Wotan sang:

"He who my spear in spirit feareth,
Ne'er springs through their fiery bar!"
Brunnhilda lies as though dead and Wotan disappears through the fire.

Prospects Brighter For A Fruitful Session

WASHINGTON

Now that the President's message on the State of the Union has been delivered, and the Congressional wheels have actually begun to turn, the prospects for a fruitful session look considerably brighter than they did a fortnight ago.

The reasons for this are diverse. The first and perhaps the most important is President Kennedy's record-breaking support among the voters, which has been so repeatedly revealed by the public opinion polls. The word has been spread that the President's popularity will not gain him a vote in the Senate or House of Representatives; but this is nonsense.

Here Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma is a case in point. Himself a fire-eating teetotaling Baptist from a Baptist state, Sen. Kerr heartily disliked the Kennedy nomination for the Presidency. The Baptist clergy in Oklahoma was even angered with Sen. Kerr because he stuck by the ticket, despite his distaste. And Kennedy lost Oklahoma by a wide margin, as Kerr expected, while Kerr himself was re-elected to the Senate by an even wider margin.

This autumn, however, the President paid a visit to Sen. Kerr's Oklahoma ranch. No less than 60,000 people turned out for the meeting in this remote district, which has a local population of no more than forty. The Baptist clergyman, who had been most angry with Kerr for failing to repudiate Kennedy, was now delighted to deliver the invocation. And the Senator has been telling all his colleagues that, instead of losing Oklahoma, Kennedy today would win the state in a walk.

Sen. Kerr is an independent-minded but extremely astute politician. He would be the opposite of astute if he did not do his best to go along with the President of his party, whom he now regards as commanding overwhelming support in his state. Furthermore, he wants to go along, because he has come to like Kennedy. This suggests the second reason why the prospects have improved.

The fact is the President is not only popular in the country; he is also personally very popular in Congress. Here again, Sen. Kerr is a case in point. When they were both Senators, Kerr had no intimacy with Kennedy. In addition, he opposed Kennedy's nomination. Hence bad White House-Kerr relations might have been anticipated when Kennedy took office.

Instead, the White House showed unexpected consideration of the Oklahoma Senator. The consideration included a judgeship, but the less tangible factor of simple politeness played the major role.

By Joseph Alsop

Thus Sen. Kerr, after opposing the Reciprocal Trade Act for years on end, changed his mind last session and gave the President a crucial vote for extending his reciprocal trade powers. This year, moreover, Kerr seems likely to be one of the leaders of the fight in the Senate for the President's much bolder new trade bill. If so, the effect will be great.

The case of the Oklahoma Senator is particularly striking, but only because it is so clear cut. The very great majority of Democratic Senators and House members resemble Sen. Kerr in now wanting to go along with the President, even if they have to stretch a point to do so.

Of course, some of them will not go along on civil rights, and other groups of law makers will leave the President on other issues. But the general desire to go along is nonetheless a crucial asset, which is bound to weight the averages in the President's favor.

Add to this another factor, introduced into the Congressional equation by Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas. When last session ended, almost all his fellow Southerners thought Sen. Fulbright was in bad trouble. The international renown of the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was not expected to prevail against the raw demagoguery of the "conservative" racist, Rep. Dale Alford. Alford himself confidently looked forward to beating Fulbright in the Arkansas Senate primary this year.

But although Fulbright is no master of stump speaking, Arkansas style, he took to the stump with such effectiveness that, as one Senator put it, "he ran Alford right off the plantation." The ignominious withdrawal of Alford from the race against Fulbright has suggested to many Senators and members of Congress that extreme, allegedly "conservative" posturing may not be quite such a paying proposition as some had begun to hope. This too will help the President.

Add finally one last factor, the opinion of most of the law makers that the country is in a sober mood, wanting to see the national business transacted soberly and efficiently. The sum of all the factors is the somewhat brighter prospect above-noted.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LITHP—President Kennedy recently named Fred H. Korth to be Secretary of the Navy.

Ever since, some of the more light hearted brass in the Pentagon have been going around lithping: "I thee that the Navy is changing its Korth."

OVERSIGHT—One of the newer African nations recently invited the heads of all countries who are members of the United Nations to send a representative to their independence celebration and ceremony. But Nationalist China didn't receive one.

When this became known, too late to correct, the Washington ambassador of the country involved hurried to the State Department to seek advice on how to repair the apparent diplomatic snub.

The red-faced ambassador explained that no snub was intended. The invitation list was made up from an old directory that gave the address of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as Nanking, China. Apparently, the Red Chinese regime did not forward the letter to Chiang's present seat of government at Taipei, Formosa, where he's been for more than 12 years.

MEDICAL LIBRARY — The largest and most important medical library in the world, a possession of the United States government, has been saved from obscurity and decay in its old quarters in Washington.

The library, once known as the Armed Forces Medical Library, was inadequately housed and cared for. Beginning more than a decade ago, the Hoover Commission recommended new quarters to preserve the irreplaceable documents and provide space for additions as medical knowledge expanded.

The recommendations have culminated in dedication of the new National Library of Medicine near the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., a Washington suburb.

When completed the library will contain more than a million volumes and papers covering diseases of every description and methods of dealing with them. lareos

Some Good Rules To Follow When Ice Skating

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Every year hundreds of people miscalculate the strength of ice and fall in. Drowning usually occurs when the individual sinks a few feet under water, because it is difficult to see the breakthrough hole. In addition, there is no layer of air between ice and water.

Many northerners use the rule "one inch, keep off; two inches, one may; three inches, small groups; four inches, O. K." This advice has value on a quiet lake but should be used cautiously when ice forms over moving wavy water. This ice is likely to be honeycombed or of uneven thickness.

A person is on his own when he falls through the ice. Try not to struggle and hold on to the adjacent ice sheet. Heavy winter clothing has a buoyant effect.

To get out, the individual must support himself on the ice by gentle arm pressure and level his body gradually by raising the feet toward the surface of the water. The next step is to squirm or roll upon the ice, distributing the weight over as much ice as possible.

Rescue efforts by others require caution. Obviously, people should not gather around the hole. Throw the victim a pole, stick, buoy, or rope with a knot at the end. One person can approach the hole on a plank, ladder, or skis. Several rescuers can form a human chain, each holding onto the ankles of the person ahead. A few should wear skates or something sharp to keep the chain well anchored.

Some persons drive their car, truck, or tractor over the ice covered lakes and rivers of Canada and the northern parts of the United States. This is dangerous unless the ice has been frozen for some time. One small section of ice supports each wheel of the car, or one-fourth its weight. Several years ago, dozens of cars were parked on a Wisconsin lake when the ice gave way and all went under.

TOMORROW: Items from medical journals.

NO BABIES YET

Mrs. H. G. writes: We have been married three years and, so far, no babies. I keep thinking of how I would like to be pregnant. The doctor can find nothing wrong with me and advises me to stop thinking about it. Do you think I might become pregnant if I stopped thinking about it?

REPLY

Thinking will get you nowhere. Many women get pregnant after adopting a child, possibly because they are preoccupied with the new baby. I assume your husband is normal in this department.

COLD WEATHER ACHES

B. C. writes: Is there a cure for leg and back pains that occur in cold, stormy weather?

REPLY

Possibly, depending upon the cause. You sound as if you are getting old. If this is arthritis, aches and pains may come and go and there is no need looking for a cure if the condition doesn't get worse. You will have good and bad days. When pain is present, an aspirin tablet and applying a heating pad will bring relief.

PAINFUL ARM

E. D. writes: My left arm has become so painful I can't lift it above my head. First the doctor said I had neuritis, then arthritis, then bursitis. Now he says I have a tumor. Do you think an electric heat pad will relieve the pain?

REPLY

Not if you have a tumor. You need a consultation, preferably with a physician who is an expert on bone's joints.

IMPACTED WISDOMS

R. C. writes: Should an impacted wisdom tooth be removed if it causes no symptoms?

REPLY

No, provided X-rays show there is no infection or impingement on an adjacent tooth.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

John McCone Named AEC Chairman Despite Conflict Of Interest Record

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In June, 1958, John A. McCone, the new would-be Central Intelligence chief, wrote a letter to Sherman Adams, later kicked out of government for a conflict of interest, to see whether he, McCone, might have a conflict of interest as new Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Ignoring the fact that the Goldfine charges against Adams had not made him the best man to act as judge, McCone listed the Utah Construction Company, Kaiser Engineers, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide as doing large business with the Atomic Energy Commission, and simultaneously doing business with his own privately owned shipping companies.

Significantly, two of these companies, Kaiser and Utah Construction, showed the pattern of business links McCone has kept with his old associates and war profiteers. McCone was president and a partner with Henry Kaiser and associates in running the California Shipbuilding Company during the war when they rolled an investment of $100,000 into an over-all profit of $44,000,000.

Later, when he was Under Secretary of the Air Force, McCone gave his old partner a quickie flying boxcar contract at three times the cost the Air Force was paying. Fairchild. Incidentally, Senate hearings conducted by the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire showed that Kaiser and his subsidiaries got a total of $219,011,919 in government RFC loans: received $6,568,000,000 in government contracts and got approximately half a billion dollars in quickie tax write-offs.

Big AEC Contractors

Kaiser has also been one of the biggest contractors with the Atomic Energy Commission including the period when Kaiser's old partner, John McCone, was AEC chairman.

The company which operates under the all-inclusive name of Utah Construction Company is also part-owned by Kaiser and actually is a big seller of uranium to the AEC through its subsidiary, Lucky Mc Uranium Corp.

Union Carbide is one of the biggest contractors with the Atomic Energy Commission. It not only sells uranium to the AEC, but operates AEC plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky. Both Union Carbide and the Kaiser interests benefited from the AEC's decision not to buy uranium from "underdeveloped countries." This obviously played into the hands of established American companies such as Union Carbide and Kaiser.

Yet McCone, before he became chairman of the AEC in 1958, admitted that his personally owned shipping line, Joshua Hendy, handled "inter-coastal and coastwise transportation of chemicals, transports products for Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, and others."

"I have some business relationships with Kaiser," he also testified, "inasmuch as a jointly owned company, 25 per cent of which is owned by Hendy and 50 per cent by Kaiser Aluminum. Has a long-range contract to transport Kaiser's bauxite."

"Would your firm continue to deal with these firms in the atomic energy field, such as Union Carbide?" asked Sen. Clint Anderson of New Mexico.

"Yes, I would expect they would continue," replied the future AEC chairman.

"Union Carbide is a large customer of Hendy's," Anderson reminded him.

"Yes, they are," McCone agreed.

Adams Gives His OK

However, he insisted that placing the stock of his shipping companies in trust with the Bank of California, in which he is also a stockholder, cleared him of any conflict of interest. This left him, however, with the profits which would accrue from the contracts his shipping companies made from Union Carbide, Kaiser, and the other firms which did business with the AEC of which he was chairman. In other words, while he was AEC chairman, his shipping companies would benefit from business with AEC contractors.

On the basis of this, Sherman Adams, that great judge of conflict of interest, OK'd the arrangement; and the Senate, diverted by the Sherman Adams-Goldfine headlines, also OK'd it and confirmed McCone as AEC chairman.

However, now that McCone is coming up for another, even more important, post, head of Central Intelligence, the Senate might take time to review the record and study the law.

The conflict-of-interest law gives no choice either to McCone or to the Senate. McCone said he had done "a great deal of soul-searching" and had concluded he could handle the AEC chairmanship without any favoritism. However, the AEC law does not permit a man to search his soul and make the decision. The law makes the decision for him. It gives no alternatives other than get out of any conflict with private business interests.

"No member of the commission," it reads, "shall engage in any business, vocation, or employment other than that of serving as a member of the commission."

The law was passed not to be rationalized after soul-searching, but to make sure that men like McCone did not serve on this powerful commission with the power to make tremendous profits for certain companies, unless they gave up their stock in the companies which benefited. This McCone did not do, and in an early column, one significant result affecting McCone's private shipping line will be reported. (Copyright, 1962, By the Bell Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Last year I wrote a detailed account on race track betting. It was called Bishop's System for Losing Slowly on Fast Horses. It was, some of you may recall, a form of mathematics in which the player doesn't have to know how to add, so long as he is a whiz at subtraction.

Now I propose to electrify all seven of you with the news that I am into the stock market up to my dentures. Maybe past them. The stock market, as every buttonhead should know, is legal numbers. Anyone can play, and intelligence is a handicap. I have been into the stock market—and vice versa—for two years and I have learned much, most of it bad.

The proper thing for an investor to do is to sink his money in U.S. bonds, but there is no risk in this and the player loses all the excitement of night sweats. It is proper also to follow the precepts of the Securities and Exchange Commission, a device set up by the government to take the gambling out of gambling.

Frankly, I don't know a debenture from a fiduciary. If you do, I wish you'd keep it to yourself. The studious, conservative investor — well, look at Billy Rose. He has his own ticker in his home. If the Secretary of State coughs, Mr. Rose begins to fashion a do-it-yourself noose.

This is called serious investing which, in turn, evolves into profound investing when the player begins to take the ticker to bed with him. This is not for me. I'm too sensible. I'm a Ticker Dicker Bickerer. Someone — preferably a stranger in debt — gives me a hot tip and I call Bill De Luca or Charlie Savage and start bargaining for the lowest price the market can offer.

Once you are stuck with a stock, you can impress your friends by turning to the financial page of your daily newspaper. This is usually behind the sports news, although it should be a part of it. There you will find, after a few weeks or months, that what you bought for 15 dollars a share is now selling for 11—if you hurry. By the time you dial your broker, it is selling at 10½ and you begin to wonder if Russian Roulette is as much fun as it sounds.

Once, on a Miami golf course, Bob Neale introduced me to a man who looked like a Wall St. Wizard although, to tell the truth, he may have been caddyfing for the foursome ahead.

In any case, he tipped me to a stock which manufactures containers. It was, he said, selling at six over the Counter. This means it is not listed on any of the exchanges. I missed an easy five iron shot from under a hibiscus bush and went back and phoned my broker and bought 1,000 shares.

The reaction was terrific. I bought at six, and the news must have leaked because, in a few days, it was offered at 5½ on bids of five. I met another wizard in the rest room at Toots Shor's. He was combing his four hairs long.

wise across his head and he said that a certain electronics firm had "turned the corner with their business machine." I bought at 23½. Their machine has been giving me the business ever since.

Someone phoned to say that a smart man could make a bundle investing in a company which makes charcoal briquets. So I bought this stuff at two, figuring where can it go? I'll tell you where it went—to 1½ths, that's where.

There is a Florida development company which has a stock history akin to a malaria victim hiding in a deep freeze. It used to go up and down like lunch on a roller coaster. The moment I bought it, it steadied like Stalin's hand the day after he died. It moves neither up nor down nor sideways. It isn't dead. Just numb.

Another tip came from a relative who stutters. Come to think of it, he could utter the name of this stock without a tremor. It sold around 23 and the firm sells cheap suits. They had better sell one to me. I can't shake any more cash out of the kids' piggy banks, but I can give them the banks the money came in.

Last week, I subscribed to The Outlook. This is Standard & Poor's tip sheet. I won't learn anything from it, but it makes me look sporting to be caught reading it. The Gross National Product, I found, was gross. One headline says: "Golden Sixties Unfolding on Time" which will give you an idea of how conservative they are.

Stocks, it seems, have a snobish form of society just like people; some are preferred, some are common. I'm common. Once, many years ago, I was a runner in Wall Street. I worked for Lehman Brothers. Another year of playing the stock market and I may get my old job back . . .

So Now Who's A Colonialist?

The old Western colonialism is dying. Some day its legacy to many of the under-developed peoples will be better appreciated than now.

The new colonialism of Soviet Russia — actually the old Russian czarist imperialism with a Marxist ideological rationalization — is very much alive, pressing outward and nibbling on its borders.

These two colonialisms are so much in the spotlight that it is easy to ignore a third sort of colonialism that is putting in an appearance — the colonialism of under-developed and formerly colonial countries. These countries seek territory on the basis of premises which they would not recognize as valid if those premises were asserted by other colonialisms.

Iraq claims the right to rule Kuwait. Nasser would like to unite much of Africa and the Middle East under his leadership. India, in places like Hyderabad, Kashmir and Goa, has been showing an itch for territory.

Indonesia, which is having difficulty governing itself, threateningly demands that she be allowed to govern the stone-age Papuans in West New Guinea, but without showing why she should be considered better qualified for that assignment than The Netherlands.

Guatemala is demanding British Honduras from Britain. If the demand were granted, the people of Belize wouldn't get the independence Britain is preparing them for. Ecuador demands territory from Peru, Bolivia craves adjoining territory. There are territorial disputes between Honduras and Nicaragua, between Argentina and Chile, between Brazil and Argentina.

Everybody wants peace, of course. But almost the only nations that do not seem to want to grab territory now held by somebody else are the former colonial powers.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Things Do Happen!

The other night, I went to the Metropolitan Opera House to hear the Walküre, which, if you do not know, Richard Wagner took out of the Volungs and Niblungs and wrote a series of opera about. It takes enormous energy to sing any of the music in the Ring, first because Wagner had no mercy for singers, expecting them to blow themselves to bits and secondly because it is undoubtedly the most glorious music ever written if you can understand what it is all about.

Richard Wagner's concept of the opera was that it united all the arts into a single idea. However, the night I went, the star lost her voice and they substituted another, poor dear, who had not enough wind to carry Wagner across the mountain which he expects a soprano to do. Of course, Flagstad had no problems because nature built her that way and all went well until Walter Winchell called Flagstad a Nazi.

So the night I went to hear the Walküre, they had a real German Wotan, with all the muscles and stomach that is required for such a character but a bug got him and his voice was not what it should have been—an accident that shows what can happen to an actor who plays a god. So they got another Wotan, gods being available in these days as in those and the curtain went up and everyone was happy.

Wotan was doing pretty well until he—the second one—lost his voice or forgot his part: I do not know what happened for I, not being a master of these things, listen only to the orchestra that carries into dreams. When Wotan sang, in German, of course:

"Thy bed shall be lit by torches more brilliant
Than ever for bridal have burned!
Fiery gleams shall girdle the fell,
With terrible scorchings scaring the timid.
Who, cowed, may cross not Brunnhilda's couch
For one alone freeth the bride;
One freer than I, the god!"

Down came the curtain. The god had lost his way. Nobody knew whether he was to get his money back or what, but on the whole it was a decent audience that took what came good-naturedly, figuring that these German gods were playful folk who got all mixed up with maids and beer and sometimes even with such a one as Hitler.

My eyes were cast on a bass fiddle player, a girl, who I was told was part of the augmented orchestra. I recalled what Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said to Justice Brandeis when both were aged and walking to the Supreme Court to prove their eternal youth. "Oh! Would that I were eighty again."

The curtain rose again and the first Wotan courageously finished the show, for come what may, the show must go on and Wagner was justified when the original Wotan sang:

"He who my spear in spirit feareth,
Ne'er springs through their fiery bar!"

Brunnhilda lies as though dead and Wotan disappears through the fire.

Slow curtain.
All the time I wondered when the big chandelier would fall from the ceiling and put an end to the whole business. Next time I shall take Bob Considine and Toots Shor or some other pundit to listen to Wagner's leitmotif. For them only the first row would do.

A few should wear skates or something sharp to keep the chain well anchored.

Some persons drive their car, truck, or tractor over the ice covered lakes and rivers of Canada and the northern parts of the United States. This is dangerous unless the ice has been frozen for some time. One small section of ice supports each wheel of the car, or one-fourth its weight. Several years ago, dozens of cars were parked on a Wisconsin lake when the ice gave way and all went under.

NO BABIES YET

Mrs. H. G. writes: We have been married three years and, so far, no babies. I keep thinking of how I would like to be pregnant. The doctor can find nothing wrong with me and advises me to stop thinking about it. Do you think I might become pregnant if I stopped thinking about it?

REPLY

Thinking will get you nowhere. Many women get pregnant after adopting a child, possibly because they are preoccupied with the new baby. I assume your husband is normal in this department.

COLD WEATHER ACHES

B. C. writes: Is there a cure for leg and back pains that occur in cold, stormy weather?

REPLY

Possibly, depending upon the cause. You sound as if you are getting old. If this is arthritis, aches and pains may come and go and there is no need looking for a cure if the condition doesn't get worse. You will have good and bad days. When pain is present, an aspirin tablet and applying a heating pad will bring relief.

PAINFUL ARM

E. D. writes: My left arm has become so painful I can't lift it above my head. First the doctor said I had neuritis, then arthritis, then bursitis. Now he says I have a tumor. Do you think an electric heat pad will relieve the pain?

REPLY

Not if you have a tumor. You need a consultation, preferably with a physician who is an expert on bone's and joints.

IMPACTED WISDOMS

R. C. writes: Should an impacted wisdom tooth be removed if it causes no symptoms?

REPLY

No, provided X-rays show there is no infection or impingement on an adjacent tooth.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

tor is particularly striking, but only because it is so clear cut. The very great majority of Democratic Senators and House members resemble Sen. Kerr in now wanting to go along with the President, even if they have to stretch a point to do so.

Of course, some of them will not go along on civil rights, and other groups of law makers will leave the President on other issues. But the general desire to go along is nonetheless a crucial asset, which is bound to weight the averages in the President's favor.

Add to this another factor, introduced into the Congressional equation by Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas. When last session ended, almost all his fellow Southerners thought Sen. Fulbright was in bad trouble. The international renown of the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was not expected to prevail against the raw demagoguery of the "conservative" racist, Rep. Dale Alford. Alford himself confidently looked forward to beating Fulbright in the Arkansas Senate primary this year.

But although Fulbright is no master of stump speaking, Arkansas style, he took to the stump with such effectiveness that, as one Senator put it, "he ran Alford right off the plantation." The ignominious withdrawal of Alford from the race against Fulbright has suggested to many Senators and members of Congress that extreme, allegedly "conservative" posturing may not be quite such a paying proposition as some had begun to hope. This too will help the President.

Add finally one last factor, the opinion of most of the law makers that the country is in a sober mood, wanting to see the national business transacted soberly and efficiently. The sum of all the factors is the somewhat brighter prospect above-noted.

John McCone Named AEC Chairman Despite Conflict Of Interest Record

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In June, 1958, John A. McCone, the new would-be Central Intelligence chief, wrote a letter to Sherman Adams, later kicked out of government for a conflict of interest, to see whether he, McCone, might have a conflict of interest as new Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Ignoring the fact that the Goldfine charges against Adams had not made him the best man to act as judge, McCone listed the Utah Construction Company, Kaiser Engineers, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide as doing large business with the Atomic Energy Commission, and simultaneously doing business with his own privately owned shipping companies.

Significantly, two of these companies, Kaiser and Utah Construction, showed the pattern of business links McCone has kept with his old associates and war profiteers. McCone was president and a partner with Henry Kaiser and associates in running the California Shipbuilding Company during the war when they rolled an investment of $100,000 into an over-all profit of $44,000,000.

Later, when he was Under Secretary of the Air Force, McCone gave his old partner a quickie flying boxcar contract at three times the cost the Air Force was paying Fairchild. Incidentally, Senate hearings conducted by the late Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire showed that Kaiser and his subsidiaries got a total of $219,011,919 in government RFC loans; received $6,568,000,000 in government contracts and got approximately half a billion dollars in quickie tax write-offs.

Big AEC Contractors

Kaiser has also been one of the biggest contractors with the Atomic Energy Commission including the period when Kaiser's old partner, John McCone, was AEC chairman.

The company which operates under the all-inclusive name of Utah Construction Company is also part-owned by Kaiser and actually is a big seller of uranium to the AEC through its subsidiary, Lucky Mc Uranium Corp.

Union Carbide is one of the biggest contractors with the Atomic Energy Commission. It not only sells uranium to the AEC, but operates AEC plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky. Both Union Carbide and the Kaiser interests benefited from the AEC's decision not to buy uranium from "underdeveloped countries." This obviously played into the hands of established American companies such as Union Carbide and Kaiser.

Yet McCone, before he became chairman of the AEC in 1958, admitted that his personally owned shipping line, Joshua Hendy, handled "inter-coastal and coast-wise transportation of chemicals, transports products for Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, and others."

"I have some business relationships with Kaiser," he also testified, "inasmuch as a jointly owned company, 25 per cent of which is owned by Hendy and 50 per cent by Kaiser Aluminum. Has a long-range contract to transport Kaiser's bauxite."

"Would your firm continue to deal with these firms in the atomic energy field, such as Union Carbide?" asked Sen. Clint Anderson of New Mexico.

"Yes, I would expect they would continue," replied the future AEC chairman.

"Union Carbide is a large customer of Hendy's," Anderson reminded him.

"Yes, they are," McCone agreed.

Adams Gives His OK

However, he insisted that placing the stock of his shipping companies in trust with the Bank of California, in which he is also a stockholder, cleared him of any conflict of interest. This left him, however, with the profits which would accrue from the contracts his shipping companies made from Union Carbide, Kaiser, and the other firms which did business with the AEC of which he was chairman. In other words, while he was AEC chairman, his shipping companies would benefit from business with AEC contractors.

On the basis of this, Sherman Adams, that great judge of conflict of interest, OK'd the arrangement, and the Senate, diverted by the Sherman Adams-Goldfine headlines, also OK'd it and confirmed McCone as AEC chairman.

However, now that McCone is coming up for another, even more important, post, head of Central Intelligence, the Senate might take time to review the record and study the law.

The conflict-of-interest law gives no choice either to McCone or to the Senate. McCone said he had done "a great deal of soul-searching" and had concluded he could handle the AEC chairmanship without any favoritism. However, the AEC law does not permit a man to search his soul and make the decision. The law makes the decision for him. It gives no alternatives other than get out of any conflict with private business interests.

"No member of the commission," it reads, "shall engage in any business, vocation, or employment other than that of serving as a member of the commission."

The law was passed not to be rationalized after soul-searching, but to make sure that men like McCone did not serve on this powerful commission with the power to make tremendous profits for certain companies, unless they gave up their stock in the companies which benefited. This McCone did not do, and in an early column, one significant result affecting McCone's private shipping line will be reported. (Copyright, 1962, By the Bell Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Last year I wrote a detailed account on race track betting. It was called Bishop's System for Losing Slowly on Fast Horses. It was, some of you may recall, a form of mathematics in which the player doesn't have to know how to add, so long as he is a whiz at subtraction.

Now I propose to electrify all seven of you with the news that I am into the stock market up to my dentures. Maybe past them. The stock market, as every buttonhead should know, is legal numbers. Anyone can play, and intelligence is a handicap. I have been into the stock market—and vice versa—for two years and I have learned much, most of it bad.

The proper thing for an investor to do is to sink his money in U.S. bonds, but there is no risk in this and the player loses all the excitement of night sweats. It is proper also to follow the precepts of the Securities and Exchange Commission, a device set up by the government to take the gambling out of gambling.

Frankly, I don't know a debenture from a fiduciary. If you do, I wish you'd keep it to yourself. The studious, conservative investor — well, look at Billy Rose. He has his own ticker in his home. If the Secretary of State coughs, Mr. Rose begins to fashion a do-it-yourself noose.

This is called serious investing which, in turn, evolves into profound investing when the player begins to take the ticker to bed with him. This is not for me. It's too sensible. I'm a Ticker Dicker Bickerer. Someone — preferably a stranger in debt — gives me a hot tip and I call Bill De Luca or Charlie Savage and start bargaining for the lowest price the market can offer.

Once you are stuck with a stock, you can impress your friends by turning to the financial page of your daily newspaper. This is usually behind the sports news, although it should be a part of it. There you will find, after a few weeks or months, that what you bought for 15 dollars a share is now selling for 11—if you hurry. By the time you dial your broker, it is selling at 10½ and you begin to wonder if Russian Roulette is as much fun as it sounds.

Once, on a Miami golf course, Bob Neale introduced me to a man who looked like a Wall St. Wizard although, to tell the truth, he may have been caddyfing for the foursome ahead.

In any case, he tipped me to a stock which manufactures containers. It was, he said, selling at six Over the Counter. This means it is not listed on any of the exchanges. I missed an easy five iron shot from under a hibiscus bush and went back and phoned my broker and bought 1,000 shares.

The reaction was terrific. I bought at six, and the news must have leaked because, in a few days, it was offered at 5½ on bids of five. I met another wizard in the rest room at Toots Shor's. He was combing his four hairs longwise across his head and he said that a certain electronics firm had "turned the corner with their business machine." I bought at 23½. Their machine has been giving me the business ever since.

Someone phoned to say that a smart man could make a bundle investing in a company which makes charcoal briquets. So I bought this stuff at two, figuring where can it go? I'll tell you where it went—to 1½ths, that's where.

There is a Florida development company which has a stock history akin to a malaria victim hiding in a deep freeze. It used to go up and down like lunch on a roller coaster. The moment I bought it, it steadied like Stalin's hand the day after he died. It moves neither up nor down nor sideways. It isn't dead. Just numb.

Another tip came from a relative who stutters. Come to think of it, he could utter the name of this stock without a tremor. It sold around 23 and the firm sells cheap suits. They had better sell one to me. I can't shake any more cash out of the kids' piggy banks, but I can give them the banks the money came in.

Last week, I subscribed to The Outlook. This is Standard & Poor's tip sheet. I won't learn anything from it, but it makes me look sporting to be caught reading it. The Gross National Product, I found, was gross. One headline says: "Golden Sixties Unfolding on Time" which will give you an idea of how conservative they are.

Stocks, it seems, have a snobish form of society just like people; some are preferred, some are common. I'm common. Once, many years ago, I was a runner in Wall Street. I worked for Lehman Brothers. Another year of playing the stock market and I may get my old job back . . .

That Indonesian daily newspaper, The Torch, apparently believes in living up to its name. It's been suspended indefinitely by the government because one of its editorials was considered too hot!

The machine gun was invented by a doctor, according to a historian. Good for business?

A farm house near Mena, Ark., is reported to be haunted by a ghost which talks back to members of the family. What puzzles us is this—what do they find as a topic of discussion?

Insects, we read, do more than $4 billion damage in the U. S. annually. It's brooding over stuff like that that can drive you bugs.

The football season must be definitely over — no one showed up at the office last Monday with a new head cold.

Most incontrovertible statement of the year was made by a 15-year-old on an essay submitted to a students' prize contest on the subject of "Prehistoric Times." "In prehistoric times," he stated boldly, "books were very scarce."

There's a fellow down in Asbury Park who vows he hasn't spoken to his wife in four months. He remains cheerful, however. "I'm confident — and you can quote me on this," says he, "that my turn will soon be due."

Staggers Seeks Re-Election In 2nd. District

Wants 8th Term In Congress

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser Democrat, today filed with the West Virginia secretary of state for Democratic renomination to his eighth consecutive term from the state's Second Congressional District.

Rep. Staggers was first elected in 1948. His district under the new apportionment has been increased from 15 counties to 17 counties, making it the largest Congressional district in area east of the Mississippi.

A native of Mineral County, he was educated at a small rural school and later worked his way through Keyser High School, being a call boy in the evenings for the B&O Railroad.

Former Teacher
He was graduated in 1931 from Emory and Henry College where he played varsity football on the football team.

During summers, he earned money by working in the wheat fields of Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska and in an Akron tire factory.

For two years after graduation from college, Rep. Staggers taught science at Norton, Va., High School and also coached several sports.

At Potomac State College from 1933 to 1935, he taught physical education and was football, basketball and baseball coach. His basketball team in 1935 reached the state collegiate finals.

From 1936 to 1941, he was sheriff of Mineral County. He left that post and was appointed head of the West Virginia Office of Government Reports and later, the Office of War Information.

Father Of Six
For three years during the Navy he was a navigator and officer in the Naval Air Corps. Rep. Staggers was injured in the service and after returning to Keyser, headed the Mineral County rent control office.

Married to the former Mary Casey of Keyser, the couple has six children.

One of his first accomplishments in Congress was working with Sen. J. Glenn Beall, then Maryland's representative from the Sixth District, in getting a bill providing for the resumption of work on the Savage River Dam.

Rep. Staggers has worked on numerous Western Maryland ventures in Congress in cooperation with Sixth District and Maryland Congressmen, among which were the Cumberland-Ridgely flood control project.

His filing, coincidentally, comes on the day when Rep. Staggers is honored by his first testimonial dinner by constituents in his district. That will be held tonight in Charles Town.

Disputed Goal Gives Indians Close Verdict

Post-Game Rhubarb Follows Wisler's Deciding Basket

A bitterly disputed field goal at game's end by Howard Wisler gave Mt. Savage a 69-68 win over Fort Hill last night in a WMI League struggle at 'Savage that did not confine all the fireworks to the playing floor.

Tension that mounted increasingly during the course of a last quarter rally by Fort Hill had the overflow crowd worked into such a frenzy in the closing seconds that few people in the audience heard the final buzzer sound.

Post-Game Rhubarb This is what precipitated the post-game rhubarb that sent Fort Hill coaches, players and fans to the scorer's table, angrily insisting that Wisler's shot was fired after the buzzer had sounded and the game was over.

The official timer, a senior student at Mt. Savage who seemed rather bewildered by the turn of events, claimed the goal was "good" after a moment of indecision.

Mt. Savage's victory, however tainted as it may have seemed to Fort Hill followers, moved the Indians into a tie for the WMI lead with the Bruce Bulldogs, who last night downed Allegany, 68-55, in a game at Westernport.

Get 50 In Final Half The Sentinels of Fort Hill, who scored only 18 points in the first half but came back with 50 in the final two quarters, trailed throughout until just 45 seconds remained when Ronnie Manges, a ball of fire on defense, engineered a steal at mid-court and drove for a layup that put the visitors in front, 68-67.

Seven seconds later Manges became the potential goat when he fouled the Indians' Terry Crabtree, but the gangling sophomore missed the free throw attempt and Fort Hill's Steve Johnson controlled the rebound.

Mt. Savage regained possession, however, following a jump ball at Fort Hill's end of the floor and once the Indians moved into their own forecourt, the crowd roar had reached such a crescendo that nothing could be heard above it, creating the confusion that resulted when Wisler's one-hand shot from the left of the key dropped through the hoop.

Once the conference at the scorer's table broke up with Mt. Savage declared the winner, disheartened Sentinel coach Jimmy Eckard and his followers still insisted that a grave injustice had been done. Needless to say, the Mt. Savage fans left the arena in a jubilant frame of mind.

Sentinels Come To Life Fort Hill made only eight of 36 foul shots and got the worst of it under the boards in the first half which ended with the home team holding a 31-18 edge, but came to life after intermission. The Sentinels' hustling floor play, coupled with their vastly improved shooting eye, put them back in the game, although the Indians had a .338 percentage mark.

led by ten as late as the midway point of the final quarter. With only 2:20 to go, Mt. Savage still led by five but a three-point play by Colin Smith cut the margin to 64-62 with 1:45 left.

Steve Johnson, whose only contribution to the Sentinels' scoring attack came at a most opportune time, pulled Fort Hill within one point at 67-66 with 56 seconds showing on the clock. Eleven seconds later Manges' came through with the go-ahead goal, and the stage was set for Wisler's controversial shot.

Wilson Paces Indians Sophomore pivotman Ralph Wilson, the sophomore sensation who along with soph Bob Robertson has been sparking the Indians' attack, wound up with 21 points on nine field goals in 17 attempts and a 3-4 performance at the foul line. Robertson collected 16 before fouling out with 3:01 left in the game, and Wisler finished with 15.

Manges was the game's high scorer with 22 tallies in addition to his standout rebound work and aggressive floor play. Del Proudfoot, Smith and Pat Wilson scored 16, 15 and 13, respectively, for the Sentinels.

Dutch Shirey Scores Again, Wins $2,232

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — E. L. Dutch (U) Shirey, who won $20,000 at a $2 bet at the Charles Town race track New Year's Day, picked up another $2,232 Monday.

Both times, Shirey won the money on the twin double — picking winners in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth races. And both times, Shirey played only one combination in the twin double.

What's his system?
"None," Shirey says. "Just horseplayers' luck. I guess. I figure it's like an insurance policy paying off. You know, you pay so much in . . ."

Actually, Shirey bet $6, but missed on the daily double which pays off on winners of the first two races. The retired clothier, wasn't at the track Monday.

Tuesday he traveled to Charles Town to sign a form required by the government for winners of more than $600, and to pick up the money.

Piersall Rejects Washington Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall, dickerer for the first time in his career with a .322 batting average as ammunition, turned down the Washington Senators' offer of a small raise Tuesday and left town without signing his 1962 contract.

Ed Doherty, Senators' general manager who conferred with the volatile outfielder for two hours, admitted they were "still far apart."

Piersall, who compiled his .322 batting mark for the Cleveland Indians last year before being traded to the Senators last fall, received an estimated $35,000 from the Indians in 1961. He said Doherty offered him a raise on Tuesday, but not as much as he wants.

Triandos Signs Eighth Contract With Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Catcher Gus Triandos, dean of the Baltimore Orioles who had expressed a desire to be traded, was the first announced contract signer today.

It was the eighth Oriole contract signed by Triandos. He came to Baltimore at the end of the 1954 baseball season in a multiple player deal with the New York Yankees.

The 31-year-old catcher had let it be known last month he would prefer to play elsewhere. At the time, a deal involving Triandos with the Los Angeles Dodgers was reported, but none materialized.

Triandos gave as his reasons for wanting to be traded the stadium fences of the Baltimore stadium and the hard work in catching the Oriole pitchers, a mixture of young speed ballers and veteran knuckle ballers.

Triandos has been plagued by hand injuries since August of 1959 after he had been picked on the American League All-Stars for the second time.

Ridgeley Visits LaSalle, Keyser Hosts Martinsburg's Bulldogs

West Virginia Frosh Cagers Play Potomac

Keyser High Contest
At 6 p.m.; ACC Quint
Has 2 p.m. Tilt Here

LaSalle High School's Explorers go after their fourth straight victory in the Potomac Valley Conference when they face Ridgeley's Blackhaws at S.S. Peter & Paul gym and Keyser High School's Golden Tornado tests Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs at Keyser in the top scholastic contests on tap in the tri-state area tonight.

Coach George Geatz's teams have a four-game winning streak going at the expense of Ridgeley, having won last season, 71-50 and 80-53 and the year before, 53-50 and 74-49, after the Blackhaws had topped both games in 1959 by scores of 47-38 and 69-66 in overtime.

LaSalle will be making its eleventh start of the campaign with a 9-1 record while Ridgeley has won four games and lost six. Coach Tom O'Connor's quint is 4-5 in the conference. Keyser with a 7-0 record is the only team ahead of LaSalle in the conference race.

Top Quints Tangle

The Keyser-Martinsburg battle brings together two of the top teams in nearby West Virginia. Coach "Eck" Myers' Golden Tornado has won nine out of ten games while Martinsburg, coached by Roy Comer, former Ridgeley High School athlete, has bagged six of seven games. Allegany handed Keyser its only loss, 62-59, but Martinsburg knocked off Allegany, 66-54, and also whipped Fort Hill, 82-68, North Hagerstown, 53-36, and Frederick, 69-54.

Last season the Bulldogs swept the Keyser series, 60-52 and 85-74, and wound up the campaign with a 21-2 record under George Whitacre. In fact, Martinsburg went to the state triple-A semifinals last year before bowing to Huntington.

Barlock Is Injured

Tim Bartock, one of Martinsburg's standout players, is not expected to see action against Keyser. The classy senior suffered a severe ankle sprain and has missed two games already, those with North Hagerstown and Frederick, which the Bulldogs won.

Today's game is set for 6 o'clock at Keyser and will enable players and fans to witness the West Virginia Freshmen-Potomac State contest billed for 8 at Potomac State's gym.

WVU Frosh Meet Cats

Potomac State (5-6) will be facing the Freshmen from Morgantown for the only time this season.

The Frosh cast is headed by Marty Lentz, 6-6, of Alexandria, Va., who broke Elgin Baylor's old high school scoring record for the Greater Washington area; Buddy Quertimont, of Point Marion, Pa., who was one of Pennsylvania's all-time scoring champions; and Ricky Ray, classy guard from last season's state championship Huntington High team. The Little Mountaineers come to Keyser with a 4-2 record. Their losses came at the hands of the West Virginia Tech junior varsity and Morris Harvey's reserves.

In addition to the LaSalle-Ridgeley game, two other P.V.C. contests are listed for tonight. Wardensville (2-2) visits the Moorefield High Yellowjackets (5-3) while Capon Bridge (0-5) opposes the West Virginia School for the Deaf (1-4) at Romney.

Bayard High School is scheduled to play at Harman.

ACC Plays In Afternoon

In an afternoon game here Allegany Community College will host the Potomac State junior varsity quint at 2 o'clock. The local cagers will be playing their seventh game of the season, having won two and lost four.

Dutch Shirey Scores Again, Wins $2,232

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — E. L. (Dutch) Shirey, who won $20,627.80 on a $2 bet at the Charles Town race track New Year's Day, picked up another $2,232 Monday.

Both times, Shirey won the money on the twin double — picking winners in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth races. And both times, Shirey played only one combination in the twin double.

What's his system? "None," Shirey says. "Just horseplayers' luck, I guess. I figure it's like an insurance policy paying off. You know, you pay so much in . . ."

Actually, Shirey bet $6, but missed on the daily double which pays off on winners of the first two races. The retired clothier, wasn't at the track Monday.

Tuesday he traveled to Charles Town to sign a form required by the government for winners of more than $600, and to pick up the money.

Piersall Rejects Washington Offer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall, dicker for the first time in his career with a .322 batting average as ammunition, turned down the Washington Senators' offer of a small raise Tuesday and left town without signing his 1962 contract.

Ed Doherty, Senators' general manager who conferred with the volatile outfielder for two hours, admitted they were "still far apart."

Piersall, who compiled his .322 batting mark for the Cleveland Indians last year before being traded to the Senators last fall, received an estimated $35,000 from the Indians in 1961. He said Doherty offered him a raise on Tuesday, but not as much as he wants.

Triandos Signs Eighth Contract With Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Catcher Gus Triandos, dean of the Baltimore Orioles who had expressed a desire to be traded, was the first announced contract signer today.

It was the eighth Oriole contract signed by Triandos. He came to Baltimore at the end of the 1954 baseball season in a multiple player deal with the New York Yankees.

The 31-year-old catcher had let it be known last month he would prefer to play elsewhere. At the time, a deal involving Triandos with the Los Angeles Dodgers was reported, but none materialized.

Triandos gave as his reasons for wanting to be traded the far reaches of the Baltimore stadium fences and hard work in catching the Oriole pitchers, a mixture of young speed ballers and veteran knuckle ballers.

Triandos has been plagued by hand injuries since August of 1959 after he had been picked on the American League All-Stars for the second time.

Cincinnati Scores
12th Win Of Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — Third-ranked Cincinnati finally caught fire in the second half Tuesday night with a rampage of scoring nearly double that of Dayton and hung up an 80-61 victory over the Flyers.

Dayton, an old rival, had piled up a 33-26 halftime lead while Cincinnati scored only 9 of 32 field goal tries.

After halftime the Bearcats went to work scoring 16 leadoff points to Dayton's 2 and streaking to a lopsided margin in a drive that went right down to the final buzzer.

Paul Hogue hit a game-high of 21 points and snared 13 rebounds before fouling out late in the game. Dayton lost Gary Roggenbuck on fouls late, too. Bill Chmielewski led Dayton with 17 points.

Cincinnati wound up sinking 27 of 58 shots from the field while Dayton scored 26 of 56. The Bearcats sank 24 of 30 free throws to Dayton's 9 of 17.

It was Cincinnati's 12th victory in 14 games while Dayton now has a 10-4 mark.

All of our retail businesses, churches, schools, services and government offices can survive only if our industries show prosperity and growth."

Police Nab Youth On Check Count

A 17-year-old Morantown youth was arrested by police yesterday morning and lodged in the Allegany County jail in connection with the passing of a forged check.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police at LaVale barracks, said last night that he arrested the youth after securing a warrant from Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt charging the youth with forgery.

The youth reportedly took a check for $105.89 from the mail box of Michael V. Larkin, 27, of Morantown.

Sgt. Baker said the youth forged Larkin's name and cashed the check at the Safeway Store in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center.

Larkin was reported to have notified the Savings Bank of Baltimore to stop payment on the check which had been mailed to him.

Baker said no date has been set for a preliminary hearing until the canceled check is procured. He said the check was removed from Larkin's mail box on January 10.

Car Dealer Is Fined In Unusual Case

Charge Involved Improper Title

William E. Gulick, trading as Gulick's Auto Exchange, 327 South Centre Street, yesterday was fined $100 on a motor vehicle charge at an unusual hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt imposed the fine after finding Gulick guilty of failing to deliver a proper title for a motor vehicle.

The charge was made by Okey O. Cottrell, of Perry, Ohio, who testified he purchased a truck from the local used car dealer's lot earlier this month. Cottrell, a furloughed B&O Railroad employee here, said he took the truck to Ohio, but when he tried to have it registered there he was informed he did not have a proper title.

Ownership Questioned

Cottrell told the court he purchased the truck from Donald Festerman, a salesman at the lot. Cottrell said he made a down payment of $100 and a week later paid the balance of $75. After paying for the truck, Cottrell said, he received a receipt and title for the vehicle.

Festerman testified yesterday the truck had belonged to him personally and not to the used car lot. However, Festerman said he did give Cottrell a receipt on one of the company's forms.

Festerman also said he had purchased the truck from Gulick in October and that the vehicle had not been registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles since he had bought it.

Upon further questioning of Festerman by Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Magistrate Weatherholt, the court learned that Festerman had not transferred the title of the truck after he sold it to Cottrell and thus the title was worthless to the Ohio man.

There also was quite a lengthy discussion at the trial as to whether the truck involved was a 1941 model or a 1948 model. Festerman said he sold the vehicle on the basis it was a 1948 model, but later he learned the title stated it was another model.

Seeks Dismissal

Peter J. Carpentieri, the attorney for Gulick, made a motion that the charges be dropped, since it was Festerman who sold the truck and not the used car dealer.

Magistrate Weatherholt did not allow the motion and said it was proper for Cottrell to assume he had bought the car from the dealer since he purchased it from one of the salesmen at the lot and had received a receipt on the company's stationery.

The magistrate noted he has had several similar cases recently involving improper title transactions and said car dealers and individuals should use better business sense in order to protect the good name of their businesses and entire business community of the city.

Following the hearing, Mr. Carpentieri indicated he planned to file an appeal on behalf of his client.

Demurrer Hearing Held Here

Defendant's Counsel To File Memorandum

A hearing on a demurrer filed last week in Allegany County Circuit Court by attorneys for the White Cross Health and Beauty Aids Discount Center Inc. was held yesterday afternoon in the Court Room with Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey presiding.

The filing of the demurrer stemmed from an equity suit brought against the firm by William A. Cooley, trading as Cooley's Pharmacy.

During yesterday's hearing the law firm of Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty, counsel for the defendant, indicated it would file a memorandum in the case.

Gorman Getty said the memorandum would probably be in the hands of Judge Cobey by Friday so that he may study the memorandum and rule on the demurrer.

Cooley brought the legal action in which he asked for restraining order against the White Cross firm, which operates a business place on Baltimore Street, in connection with an offer to give 25 per cent of the sales receipts of fair trade items to clubs or charity organizations.

Whether or not the discount involved can be given to charities or a third person is the issue which will be decided upon in court.

William Walsh, attorney for Cooley, stated in his petition that the offer was a clear violation of the Fair Trade Law in Maryland.

In the demurrer the local law firm states that the allegations are "vague and ambiguous." It was also claimed that the "essence of fair trade is adequate enforcement by the manufacturer or producer."

Also representing Cooley at yesterday's hearing was Joseph S. Kaufman, Baltimore attorney.

Judge Cobey issued a show cause order December 20 giving the White Cross firm 10 days to answer. An extension of this was given and the expiration date was January 10, the day the demurrer was filed.

City Pledges Cooperation On LaVale Sewage

Proposal Stated In Near Future

Mayor J. Edwin Keech last night assured the LaVale Sanitary Commission that Cumberland will cooperate in meeting LaVale's sewerage problems and will give the commission an answer within two or three weeks on a proposal for joint use of the Cumberland Sewage Treatment Plant facilities.

The pledge was made last night at a meeting in City Hall arranged by James R. McComas, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Health Department and attended by officials of the City of Cumberland, Allegany County and members of the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

At the close of the session, Mr. McComas said that in view of progress made at the conference, he felt there was no reason why the two groups could not get together on a mutually satisfactory plan.

Mr. McComas said LaVale has two alternatives, to connect to the Cumberland plant or to build its own treatment facilities which would discharge into Braddock Run or Pile Creek.

Would Allow Plant He said he would favor the use of the Cumberland plant if all other things were equal.

In reply to a LaVale query as whether the State Health Department would approve a separate plant in view of the fact that such a facility would provide only 85 per cent treatment, Mr. McComas said that if it were impossible for the Mayor and Council and the LaVale Sanitary Commission to reach an agreement, the State "would have no alternative."

He added, however, that the State Health Department would be happier "if you could reach a mutual agreement," and that he believed both communities would be better off, financially and otherwise, if an agreement could be reached.

Is City's Move When Mr. McComas asked if Cumberland thought agreement could be reached, Mayor Keech said there was "no question about coming up with something" and that the city is very willing to cooperate.

Chester A. Fisher, chairman, said the LaVale Sanitary Commission is interested in negotiating an agreement, that the commission wants to proceed as rapidly as it can, but that the city has not acknowledged a November 10 letter.

"It's up to the city to make the next move," he added.

Mayor Keech said city officials have had the commission's letter under consideration and have studied the proposition but have not yet come up with an answer.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said that since the letter was received, the city has assembled much data and has under consideration various ways the city feels the matter could be handled.

He said the city knows that any agreement must be mutual and that officials are trying to determine just which plan would be best for both groups.

Answer Set Soon The city is well along in its studies, he said, adding he thought it was now a matter of assembling all data and then advising the commission on what the city thinks would be a workable program.

There was some discussion on the possibility of setting up a metropolitan sewage plan, and Mr. McComas said there is a great deal of data available if there is a desire to explore such a plan.

During the meeting, County Commissioner John T. Mason announced that the Allegany County Sanitary Commission has received a petition from Bedford Road area residents, asking that plans be made to set up a sanitary district.

He said that whatever plan is reached with LaVale would probably be used there.

Mr. Carscaden said the city representatives would be happy to talk with Bedford Road area representatives, but he said there are different engineering problems involved.

He said the city would rather deal with the Allegany County Sanitary Commission than with individual customers.

Army Reserve Center Name Is Being Sought

A suitable name is being sought for the new Army Reserve Center along McMullen Highway between the Amcelle plant and Cresaptown.

Lt. Col. F. L. Cawood, senior unit advisor at the center, said letters are being mailed to veterans' organizations of Allegany County requesting them to cooperate and assist in selecting a suitable name for the military facility.

The officer said it is the policy of the Department of the Army that newly-constructed centers be named in honor of a local deceased soldier who served in the Army in time of war.

While it is desirable that the veteran was the recipient of one of more decorations, this is not a requirement for consideration, the colonel said.

Another important factor to be considered is the contribution made to the community by the veteran.

Final selection of the person to be honored will be made by a committee of local citizens who will choose from the nominations submitted by veterans' organizations.

The military records of all nominees will have been verified by the Department of the Army, said Col. Cawood.

The organizations are being asked that the nomination include a brief resume of military service together with the nominee's full name, rank and, if possible, his service number.

Copies of the letter will be received by commanders of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts in Allegany County, as well as Victor Tamboles Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, and the Military Order of the Purple Heart here.

Police Nab Youth On Check Count

A 17-year-old Morantown youth was arrested by police yesterday morning and lodged in the Allegany County jail in connection with the passing of a forged check.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police at LaVale barracks, said last night that he arrested the youth after securing a warrant from Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt charging the youth with forgery.

The youth reportedly took a check for $105.89 from the mail box of Michael V. Larkin, 27, of Morantown.

Sgt. Baker said the youth forged Larkin's name and cashed the check at the Safeway Store in the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center.

Larkin was reported to have notified the Savings Bank of Baltimore to stop payment on the check which had been mailed to him.

Baker said no date has been set for a preliminary hearing until the canceled check is procured. He said the check was removed from Larkin's mail box on January 10.

Car Dealer Is Fined In Unusual Case

Charge Involved Improper Title

William E. Gulick, trading as Gulick's Auto Exchange, 327 South Centre Street, yesterday was fined $100 on a motor vehicle charge at an unusual hearing in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt imposed the fine after finding Gulick guilty of failing to deliver a proper title for a motor vehicle.

The charge was made by Okey O. Cottrell, of Perry, Ohio, who testified he purchased a truck from the local used car dealer's lot earlier this month. Cottrell, a furloughed B&O Railroad employee here, said he took the truck to Ohio, but when he tried to have it registered there he was informed he did not have a proper title.

Ownership Questioned

Cottrell told the court he purchased the truck from Donald Festerman, a salesman at the lot. Cottrell said he made a down payment of $100 and a week later paid the balance of $75. After paying for the truck, Cottrell said, he received a receipt and title for the vehicle.

Festerman testified yesterday the truck had belonged to him personally and not to the used car lot. However, Festerman said he did give Cottrell a receipt on one of the company's forms.

Festerman also said he had purchased the truck from Gulick in October and that the vehicle had not been registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles since he had bought it.

Upon further questioning of Festerman by Deputy State's Attorney Donald W. Mason and Magistrate Weatherholt, the court learned that Festerman had not transferred the title of the truck after he sold it to Cottrell and thus the title was worthless to the Ohio man.

There also was quite a lengthy discussion at the trial as to whether the truck involved was a 1941 model or a 1943 model. Festerman said he sold the vehicle on the basis it was a 1943 model, but later he learned the title stated it was another model.

Peter J. Carpentieri, the attorney for Gulick, made a motion that the charges be dropped, since it was Festerman who sold the truck and not the used car dealer.

Magistrate Weatherholt did not allow the motion and said it was proper for Cottrell to assume he had bought the car from the dealer since he purchased it from one of the salesmen at the lot and had received a receipt on the company's stationery.

The magistrate noted he has had several similar cases recently involving improper title transactions and said car dealers and individuals should use better business sense in order to protect the good name of their businesses and entire business community of the city.

Following the hearing, Mr. Carpentieri indicated he planned to file an appeal on behalf of his client.

Demurrer Hearing Held Here

Defendant's Counsel To File Memorandum

A hearing on a demurrer filed last week in Allegany County Circuit Court by attorneys for the White Cross Health and Beauty Aids Discount Center Inc. was held yesterday afternoon in the Court Room with Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey presiding.

The filing of the demurrer stemmed from an equity suit brought against the firm by William A. Cooley, trading as Cooley's Pharmacy.

During yesterday's hearing the law firm of Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty, counsel for the defendant, indicated it would file a memorandum in the case.

Gorman Getty said the memorandum would probably be in the hands of Judge Cobey by Friday so that he may study the memorandum and rule on the demurrer.

Cooley brought the legal action in which he asked for restraining order against the White Cross firm, which operates a business place on Baltimore Street, in connection with an offer to give 25 per cent of the sales receipts of fair trade items to clubs or charity organizations.

Whether or not the discount involved can be given to charities or a third person is the issue which will be decided upon in court.

William Walsh, attorney for Cooley, stated in his petition that the offer was a clear violation of the Fair Trade Law in Maryland.

In the demurrer the local law firm states that the allegations are "vague and ambiguous." It was also claimed that the "essence of fair trade is adequate enforcement by the manufacturer or producer."

Also representing Cooley at yesterday's hearing was Joseph S. Kaufman, Baltimore attorney. Judge Cobey issued a show cause order December 20 giving the White Cross firm 10 days to answer. An extension of this was given and the expiration date was January 10, the day the demurrer was filed.

Army Reserve Center Name Is Being Sought

A suitable name is being sought for the new Army Reserve Center along McMullen Highway between the Amcelle plant and Cresaptown.

Lt. Col. F. L. Cawood, senior unit advisor at the center, said letters are being mailed to veterans' organizations of Allegany County requesting them to cooperate and assist in selecting a suitable name for the military facility.

The officer said it is the policy of the Department of the Army that newly-constructed centers be named in honor of a local deceased soldier who served in the Army in time of war.

While it is desirable that the veteran was the recipient of one of more decorations, this is not a requirement for consideration, the colonel said.

Another important factor to be considered is the contribution made to the community by the veteran.

Final selection of the person to be honored will be made by a committee of local citizens who will choose from the nominations submitted by veterans' organizations.

The military records of all nominees will have been verified by the Department of the Army, said Col. Cawood.

The organizations are being asked that the nomination include a brief resume of military service together with the nominee's full name, rank and, if possible, his service number.

Copies of the letter will be received by commanders of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts in Allegany County, as well as Victor Tumbollee Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, and the Military Order of the Purple Heart here.

City Pledges Cooperation On LaVale Sewage

Proposal Stated In Near Future

Mayor J. Edwin Keech last night assured the LaVale Sanitary Commission that Cumberland will cooperate in meeting LaVale's sewerage problems and will give the commission an answer within two or three weeks on a proposal for joint use of the Cumberland Sewage Treatment Plant facilities.

The pledge was made last night at a meeting in City Hall arranged by James R. McComas, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering of the State Health Department and attended by officials of the City of Cumberland, Allegany County and members of the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

At the close of the session, Mr. McComas said that in view of progress made at the conference, he felt there was no reason why the two groups could not get together on a mutually satisfactory plan.

Mr. McComas said LaVale has two alternatives, to connect to the Cumberland plant or to build its own treatment facilities which would discharge into Braddock Run or Willis Creek.

Would Allow Plant He said he would favor the use of the Cumberland plant if all other things were equal.

In reply to a LaVale query as to whether the State Health Department would approve a separate plant in view of the fact that such a facility would provide only 85 per cent treatment, Mr. McComas said that if it were impossible for the Mayor and Council and the LaVale Sanitary Commission to reach an agreement, the State "would have no alternative."

He added, however, that the State Health Department would be happier "if you could reach a mutual agreement," and that he believed both communities would be better off, financially and otherwise, if an agreement could be reached.

Is City's Move When Mr. McComas asked if Cumberland thought agreement could be reached, Mayor Keech said there was "no question about coming up with something," and that the city is very willing to cooperate.

Chester A. Fisher, chairman, said the LaVale Sanitary Commission is interested in negotiating an agreement, that the commission wants to proceed as rapidly as it can, but that the city has not acknowledged a November 10 letter.

"It's up to the city to make the next move," he added.

Mayor Keech said city officials have had the commission's letter under consideration and have studied the proposition but have not yet come up with an answer.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said that since the letter was received, the city has assembled much data and has under consideration various ways the city feels the matter could be handled.

He said the city knows that any agreement must be mutual and that officials are trying to determine just which plan would be best for both groups.

Answer Set Soon The city is well along in its studies, he said, adding he thought it was now a matter of assembling all data and then advising the commission on what the city thinks would be a workable program.

There was some discussion on the possibility of setting up a metropolitan sewage plant, and Mr. McComas said there is a great deal of data available if there is a desire to explore such a plan.

During the meeting, County Commissioner John T. Mason announced that the Allegany County Sanitary Commission has received a petition from Bedford Road area residents, asking that plans be made to set up a sanitary district.

He said that whatever plan is reached with LaVale would probably be used there.

Mr. Carscaden said the city representatives would be happy to talk with Bedford Road area representatives, but he said there are different engineering problems involved.

He said the city would rather deal with the Allegany County Sanitary Commission than with individual customers.
